We welcome Deacon Wyatt Venable and family in their new home.

John Harvey of Moses Motor Co., stands beside the pickup truck that was struck by an N&W freight at a Pamplin crossing Wednesday morning, Feb. 25. Driver of the truck was Edward Johnson, who was hauling used materials from "Courtland", the Ferguson home in Appomattox being dismantled. Ed and "Chip" Wilson, his partner in the dismantling and sale project, report that they've had so many customers interested in the pillars, siding, paneling and fixtures that much of their time now is spent in sales rather than "tearing down." Though the truck is a complete loss, Ed was not seriously hurt, and the young men are continuing their work of salvage of "Courtland".

Train Demolishes Truck

PAMPLIN —A pickup truck carrying used building materials was demolished by a freight train here Wed., Feb. 25, although the driver escaped serious injury, state police reported.

According to Trooper G. H. Gregory, the truck, operated by Reeves Edward Johnson Jr., 22, of Appomattox, was traveling south on Rt. 47 and crossed into the path of the eastbound Norfolk & Western train.

The vehicle was thrown 21 feet, Gregory said, with its tailgate sailing 200 feet into a tree-top where it lodged 30 feet from the ground.

The trooper said Johnson sustained minor injuries. The train, operated by Richard Harold Thompson of Roanoke, received about $300 worth of damage, he reported.

Gregory said the truck was carrying a load of materials from an Appomattox landmark —"Courtland", home of the late Senator and Mrs. Samuel Lewis Ferguson — which is being dismantled.

Johnson was charged with reckless driving. The accident occurred shortly after 9 a.m.

CANAAN BAPTIST

I known that March was to be such an eventful I would have been better with my homework. I would have realized that named for mythology's Mars, March would predictable. It was the first of the year in the Roman and was so in England 1752. Its last three were borrowed from April. name was Ares, and was their war god. The looked upon March as time of fertility and a good to start a war; the Greeks that it was a time of quarrelsome and trouble in The classic poem, Virgil speaks of "Mars snows", but the bird of the vulture. Churchmen To Sing March 28

The Churchmen Quartet, of Harrisonburg, will present a Gospel concert at the Woodmen of the World Building on Saturday evening, March 28 at 8 p.m. Tickets are available from any W.O.W. member.

The quartet began meeting together and singing gospel songs in 1959. They started singing in local churches, at suppers, and at various meetings. Now they have their own radio programs, appear on television from time to time, and have recorded six record albums. They are very much in demand and travel many miles each month spreading the gospel of Jesus Christ in word and music. Each man is a member of a different church and each is active in church work.

Hearing Set On Underpass

A hearing on a proposed railway underpass for Route 47 in the town of Pamplin has been set for Monday, April 6 at 7:30 p.m. The hearing will be held to consider the proposed location of Route 47 from 0/21 miles north of the south corporate limits of Pamplin City to the intersection of business route 460 in the town of Pamplin City.

Maps and other pertinent information are available for public inspection and copying in the Dept. of Highways District office at Lynchburg and the residency office at Appomattox.

Red Cross Goal Is $2400

The month of March is Red Cross Month. This is the time of year we are asked to give, so that Red Cross can help others in need.

Who are the others?

They're thousands of victims of Hurricane Camille who received help from Red Cross in rebuilding their shattered lives. More than 20 million dollars was expended by the American Red Cross for victims of Hurricane Camille. Persons with serious diseases who benefit from Red Cross Blood Research programs, servicemen and their families who turn to Red Cross for help in time of need.

Young people taking water safety and first aid training to prepare themselves for emergencies.

Red Cross was there to help all of them and many more. The money needed to do the job came from people like you, and over two million Red Cross volunteers stretched your dollars as far as they could go. This year your help and your contribution are even more necessary to continue and expand Red Cross services.

Please help Red Cross help. Send your check to your local Red Cross chapter, or give toa Volunteer solicitor when they call on you. The local Appomattox County Chapter Fund campaign will be conducted during the month of March, according to William A. Hunter, chapter chairman. The goal for the local chapter this year is $2400.00. Please give and help us help others.

Rev. R. L. Alderman

Former Pastor Will Begin TV Series

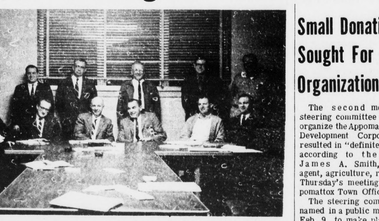
The Reverend Robert L. Alderman, pastor of Airlee Court Baptist Church, Roanoke, will inaugurate a new television series this Sunday morning at 9:30 on Channel 10, WSLS.

Entitled "Good News Time", the program will include singing, Scripture reading and preaching for viewers unable to get to their own Sunday School.

Mr. and Mrs. Alderman and their children were in Appomattox Monday. Mr. Alderman said that the TV series will run for 26 weeks, at least, and that public support will determine how much longer it will run. Mr. Alderman was pastor of Liberty Baptist Church from 1964 to 1968 at which time he assumed the pastorate of Airlee Court Baptist Church. He invites all interested persons to write "Hands For Christ", Box 5454, Roanoke, Va. 24012 for additional information about the television series and the outreach program of "Hands For Christ".

The program is part of an expanded ministry of "Hands For Christ", a venture begun by a Roanoke businessman. The "Hands For Christ" program, Mr. Alderman explained, is a gospel outreach. Each person who "joins hands for Christ" receives a "Hands for Christ" pin with a cross and a hand on each side, signifying his participation in the movement. The businessman who began the program offered his corporation, along with the Hands For Christ pin, to the Roanoke group which is underwriting the television program.

Development Corporation Committee Calls Mass Meeting For March 25



Steering committee members for the proposed Appomattox County Development Corporation put in a long evening Thursday mapping out details for a mass meeting March 25 for everyone in the county and area interested in industrial development. Seated (from left): H. B. Pack, John C. Cole, J. B. Drinkard, J. A. Smith, C. T. Moses, Jr., O. H. Tolley, Jr., W. Lloyd Vaughan. Standing (from left): H. G. Lawson, Ivey Holland, Richard Williams, J. Danny Simpson, W. E. Jamerson.

Small Donations Sought For Organization

The second meeting of a steering committee working to organize the Appomattox County Development Corporation has resulted in "definite progress" according to the chairman, James A. Smith, extension agent, agriculture, reporting on Thursday's meeting at the Appomattox Town Office.

The steering committee was named in a public meeting held Feb. 9 to make plans for the organization of an industrial development corporation. At that time thirteen business and professional men were elected to the committee with Smith elected chairman.

A mass meeting of all interested persons is being called for Wednesday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the Appomattox Court House, Purpose, says the chairman, will be for the public to hear reports from various committee chairmen working on industrial site surveys, finance, research into basic resources and other pertinent data.

Each person attending the mass meeting will have an opportunity to contribute $5.00 "just to get the organization rolling," according to a spokesman, J. B. Drinkard was elected temporary treasurer.

The $200 to $300 realized in this way will be used to pay for incorporation papers and other legal procedures, to buy stationery, postage and allow for telephone calls to industrial advisors and prospects.

At the meeting Thursday, attorney Harry Gordon Lawson read proposed articles of incorporation, drawn up from material submitted by George Delo, Director of Community Development of the Governor's Office, Division of Industrial Development.

As envisioned now, the corporation, if the need arises, would borrow money, perhaps in the form of $100 bonds, in order to provide utilities or other services to an industrial prospect, with such money to be repaid through leasing or rental arrangements. The group Thursday, however, saw no immediate need for large amounts of money until plans are further advanced.

Officers of the corporation would include a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer plus a board of directors.

Emphasis was made by the chairman and others at Thursday's meeting that the Development Corporation is in no way trying to bypass the Chamber of Commerce of Appomattox County. Ivey Holland said that there might be some misunderstanding about the asking for a $5.00 contribution for the new organization inasmuch as the Chamber of Commerce collects annual dues from members. Holland, also a member of the Board of the Chamber, said that the Chamber of Commerce's purpose is to promote tourism, industry, business expansion, provide information about the county, and that as he understands it from state advisors the Development Corporation should reflect broad participation from every organization and every group within the county.

A report was given at the meeting by C. T. Moses, Jr. as Site Development committee chairman. He reported on fourteen different site locations on the main highways in the county reflecting offerings of sites of four acres up to several hundred acres with options available to interested prospects.

Moses said hat he thinks the committee (which also includes Ivey Holland and O. H. Tolley, Jr.) will have as many as 25 sites available to prospects within the near future.

Paper Wins 1st Prize

An article, "Truth About Cigarettes" helped win first prize for the "Rebel Rouser", Appomattox High School paper which has been replaced by "ACHS -- Now" as school newspaper for Appomattox County High School. Co-editors and Donna Hubbard, Elizabeth Johnson, and Ava Keene (not shown).

Mr. James A. Sydnor, Chairman of the School Health and Community Education Committee of the Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, announces the following winners in the 33rd Annual Columbia Scholastic Press Project Contest: First place, THE REBEL ROUSER, submitted by Appomattox High School, Appomattox, Virginia; Second place, THE CROSSETTE submitted by Holy Cross High School, Lynchburg, Virginia; Third place, THE RAMSHORN, submitted by Blackstone High School, Blackstone, Va. Honorable mention goes to THE HIGHLIGHTS, submitted by Robert E. Lee Jr. High School, Lynchburg, Virginia, and THE DISPATCHER, submitted by Crewe High School, Crewe, Virginia.

In November, the Program Associate for the Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association visited schools in an eleven county area and the city of Lynchburg served by the Association. Appeals were made to advisors and staff of school newspapers and entries were encouraged by stating the purpose of the project. Junior and Senior High School students are informed of health needs in their area, and they in turn arouse interest of others by encouraging them to enter the contest.

This year students were ask to write on the following topics:

1. Youth in the fight against Tuberculosis.
2. How students can work for clean air and healthier lungs.
3. Youth against the cigarette habit.
4. Youth fights disease by fighting poverty.
5. Students look ahead to health careers.

By choosing one of these topics for an entry to the contest, a student looks at the world around him, and takes part in the action that determines the shape of his future life.

Five entries were received representing two counties and the city of Lynchburg. The entries were judged on local level by Dr. Edwin H. Vassar, Mrs. Fletcher Irby, and Miss Nancy Andrews. All entires were then forwarded to the Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association where they will be judged on state level and sent to the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association for judging on national level.

The first, second and third place winners will be presented an award at the Annual Public Board of Directors meeting, on April 25, 1970, in the Prince Edward County Court Room at 8:00 p.m.

Registration For Pre-Schoolers

School officials have announced that preschool registration for Appomattox County children will be held the last week of March. The preschool activity is sponsored this year by the Appomattox County schools and the Health Department for children who become six years of age on or before October 1, 1970.

The preschool registration gives the school an opportunity to register and make advance plans for the beginning school child. It is also designed to provide parents with home understandings concerning health needs and general school readiness.

A birth certificate and health record (immunization and disease history) are requested at the time of registration. Health clinics, sponsored by the Health Department, will be scheduled later for children who have no private physician.

The Schedule for registration is as follows:

Appomattox Primary, March 23 and March 25, 8:30-4:30. Pamplin Elementary, March 24, 8:30 - 12 noon.

A brochure containing readiness material has been prepared in the form of a color book and will be given to each child upon registering. Information for parents has been included in the brochure to help answer their questions regarding school readiness.
